

MEMORANDA.

S. I. Penmutaka. Plymouth
 Jan. 17th 1885—Left here about 1 p.m. My berth instead of being occupied by three more, had only one! a man named George Bond, rather an old fashioned looking chap. He was very sick & had all the afternoon, in fact a great many were, myself among the number. I was not so very bad, not so bad as a great many more, went to bed about 4 p.m. Did <sup>not</sup> turn out for tea, those that did were few, two men conducted a short service before we set sail. I was very glad to be able to sing. We sang, "Rock of Ages" & "Jesus' Love of my soul"

Sunday 18th

Got up at 7.15. a.m.

MEMORANDA.

Did not feel very good, but cold was better, head ached & does now at 10.30. a.m. am expecting to go to Divine Service. 10. p.m.
 Did not have any service to day.
 Felt a great deal better after dinner. Walked the deck in the afternoon, read Wordsworth Poems a bit, had a talk to Mrs. & Miss Morrison, who I came across in the Sal with Glasgow them at Feederlych St. Station. Was talking to them to night after tea, & heard some singing, some chaps were trying to get Rev. brother Row, helped them, then started some Hymns, lot of people joined & we sang of Both Church hymns & Moody & Sankeys. (Vessel rolls a good bit now) There were more people on deck this afternoon than has been before, sitting
