the men around
the mine seem to will fight with a
well kept line but we have to pay the cost of the equipment
of having people
the gun. The party
did not open fire ~~until~~ until the
rescue work was over.

Yesterday Wed 25/5/15
was quiet but in the evening up in the trenches we were
"touched up" by some shrapnel which did not touch any of my men but but killed
a Sikh mountain
sapper alongside and wounded 4 of Awehlan
mounted rifles

Angas Cove was
shelled during the day
they seem to have preferred ideas of gun fire. Their fire is very irregular and random over the target, being a chance of hitting something if they search
but yesterday they
put seven shells
into the water in
one place and no
boats being near
there was no damage
done.

I don't know how long we will stop
here, it is evident
from the number of
men here that no
serious move is contemplated. What seems the course to pursue is to throw
ourselves astride the
