

AUTOTRASPORTI
DITTA ALDO CORTELLI

Casella 229
TRIPOLI

21
end, as it was such a change from the usual army routine. You would be surprised at the talent in our units. We had a first class violinist, several first class singers & a profes-sional pianist. We had a concert grand piano to play on.

Each night after the show, we had supper put on for us at the Y. M. C. A. It made a good finish to the evening.

Did I tell you about the air raid which came in the middle of one of our performances at the Palace. The show went on in spite of the noise of the anti-aircraft guns, & when a big bomb -dropped near the waterfront, the palace rocked as if in an earthquake. However, the few bombs that were dropped caused no damage.

A few days ago, we discovered that beneath the house we were living in, were four rooms.
The doorway leading to them had been roughly concreted up, but it didn't take long to knock a hole in it & there were steps leading down