to the rooms beneath. They were full of books & clothes, crockery & goodness knows what else. We spent an interesting time "nosing" around to see what was there.

I have sent Dad two parcels of books & although they are in Italian, the photos will explain themselves. Hope they reach you safely.

Well, I will finish now & get some sleep. We travelled all day yesterday all night non-stop, so I'm feeling a bit tired. Otherwise I am A.O.K.

Hope these few lines find you all well in Nelson. Today is like a typical Nelson day - sunny & warm.

Love from your son,
