

but they seem to use up all their steam in tooting the whistles.

We had been in the train for 24 hours when we at last reached our destination so far as the rail journey was concerned.

At the station we were met by trucks driven by A.T.S. (women drivers) & taken the remaining few miles to the beach camp right on the sea coast - a lovely spot. Everything was