

57

- looms, bare chest + red turban hat kept on with an elastic band. We change the Oriental dance into the "Big Apple" (an American dance) - then eight bars of a Russian dance & finish up with me taking a run across the stage & a leap - but Rod, instead of catching me, bows to the audience & I go flying past.
I turn, as Rod is bowing again to the audience, gives him a kick in his red pantaloons, send him flat & placing my foot on him, proclaiming myself the winner by shaking my hands above my head.

It was more strenuous than a game of footy, but we got as much fun
out of it as the onlookers.
The de. band was there