Edna at least half a dozen parcels containing silk stockings & dress materials among other things, or as yet they have not been received. I do hope they haven't gone astray. I note also that my sketches of Takrouna & Zaghouna have not turned up. Oh well, there is still hope of your receiving them, I expect.

Since my last letter written a week ago, life has proceeded much the same day by day - a succession of parades & lectures & changing of brass & equipment. I sleep like a log as one feels a bit weary at the close of day after having been up since 5 A.M. With all the rushing about, I haven't lost an ounce of weight - in fact I seem to have put on a little. We have plenty to
